In American roulette, the house has an edge of 5.26 percent (It is higher than that of French roulette.) in average, and thus gambler's ruin applies.

I can typeset the names of mathematicians such as Arzela, Cech, Erdos, Godel, and l'Hopital.

In the TeXbook, Knuth says that the displaced E is a reminder that TeX is about typesetting, and it distinguishes TeX from other system names.

There are three different kinds of dashes: one in X-ray, one in page 17-22, and a punctuation dash-like this.
